as the sun set on their final day, ed, julie, and forty other newly laid-off horn-folk gathered at the poets, the venerable irish bar down the alley behind the paper